ARUNACHAL PRADESH

❑ Arunachal Assembly approves bill to establish two new districts

- The Arunachal Pradesh assembly unanimously approved the creation of two new districts in the western and southern regions of the state during its session.
- The assembly passed the Arunachal Pradesh (Re-Organisation of Districts) Amendment Bill, 2024, by voice vote facilitating the establishment of Keyi Panyor and Bichom districts.
- This legislative move brings the total number of districts in the state to 28.
- Keyi Panyor district, boasting a population exceeding 30,000 inhabitants across 195 villages, will be delineated from the Lower Subansiri district. Its administrative center will be situated in Yachuli, specifically within the Ter Gapin-Sam Sath area.
- Similarly, Bichom district is slated to be formed from territories of East Kameng and West Kameng districts, with Napangphung designated as its principal district headquarters.
- The state cabinet, on February 5, granted its consent for the establishment of these two districts, aiming to streamline administrative processes for improved governance.
